

ERNST TRIES TO FOOL VOTERS ABOUT LEAGUE

Big Crowd of Republicans Hears Senatorial Candidate and Mrs. South Speak Here

Mrs. Christine Bradley South, daughter of the late Senator W. O. Bradley, and Richard P. Ernst, candidate for United States senator from Kentucky, spoke to a large crowd of republicans at the court house Tuesday night. About half of the big throng was composed of negro men and women. It seemed that nearly all of the 180 white women who registered as republicans in Richmond, were on hand together with all of the white men would crowd into the space left after the colored voters had pre-empted the entire left side of the lower court room. A number of the white men were democrats who attended out of curiosity.

Mrs. South, who received a very warm welcome, was introduced by Mrs. Eugene Walker, and Mr. Ernst by Mr. Waller Bennett. Mrs. South spoke first and made a pleasing address. Both speakers indulged in the usual republican policy of deception concerning the league of nations. Mrs. South paid high tribute to Mr. Ernst. She claimed that he had a large part in securing suffrage for women; paid high tribute to his work for education and told of many other good things that he has done, of which the audience were ignorant, as well as most Kentuckians. She did not tell that he practices law in Cincinnati, and that he is really more an Ohioan than a Kentuckian. Mrs. South is a charming woman, and what she had to say was listened to with interested enthusiasm by her republican hearers.

Both addresses being entirely one-sided and not having attention called to mis-statements and deceptions concerning the league of nations and other issues, made favorable impressions on those who have been ignorantly deceived by the republican arguments to win votes and those who have not the intelligence or desire to think for themselves.

Ernst Plays Same Old Game

Mr. Ernst, with pleasing address and personality and with evident familiarity with its content, used the time for his address in a discussion of the covenant of the League of Nations. He held the undivided attention of his audience throughout his speech, and unquestionably made a vote-getting appeal to the man who is not familiar with recent history and the text of the League of Nations covenant.

To him, however, who has been following affairs closely the speaker must have been often under suspicion of deception in order to carry his house. Whether this deception was intentional or unintentional the public must judge, but in either case it must seem very strange procedure on the part of a candidate for the United States senate.

At the outset of his speech the speaker declared that his opponents—the Democratic leaders—demand the ratification of the covenant of the league "just as it is" without the slightest change. This was a fine talking point, but he overlooked the fact that Governor Cox throughout his campaign has again and again declared himself friendly to such reservations as would clarify the text and safeguard America's constitutional rights while not nullifying the covenant. He overlooked the fact that President Wilson gave his endorsement in writing to Senator Hitchcock of reservations which were presented to the senate during the closing days of the thirty fight in that body.

In the course of his address he told his hearers that Japan had taken Shantung from China and if the league is entered by America, this country would guarantee to Japan her right to hold this stolen territory.

It was a good talking point, but he should have told his audience that as a matter of fact Japan took Shantung from Germany, and not from China at all; Japan did this as an act of war. Neither did he tell his audience that in the war settlement Germany was forced to cede to Japan, her conqueror, in this territory only "the rights that Germany acquired in China in the treaty of 1898." He did not tell his audience that China still retains territorial sovereignty over Shantung while ceding certain industrial concessions in connection with railroads, etc.

The public must judge whether Mr. Ernst does not know the facts in this case or he was undertaking to make a point on a question of which he knew nine-tenths of his audience were uninformed.

He declared that in the council of the League of Nations, composed of nine representatives, four of whom were elective by the assembly, it would be possible for Great Britain to hold not only her own seat, but to elect "four of her children" so that she would have five out of the nine seats and thereby control the entire league.

He did not tell his audience that article IV of the covenant clearly and specifically sets out that no country can hold more than one seat in the council, nor have more than one vote. The British empire—not England, but the British empire—holds one of the five seats of the major powers, and article IV specifically provides that "the British empire" can hold but one seat in the council and not five, as was claimed by Mr. Ernst.

The question is, Does our candidate for the United States senate know the facts in these and a number of other matters similar to them discussed in his address? If he does not know them he is not apt to represent us in a very creditable way in the senate. If he does know them and disregards them, then there is but one conclusion—and that is he is using this method to deceive the electorate on the matter of the covenant of the League of Nations.

Th public must decide.

ED FOOLED US ON TAXES LAST YEAR, TOO

Benton, Ky., Oct. 13—"How can the republican leaders in Kentucky face the intelligent voter when they can't look an honest dog in the eye?" This question was asked by Senator J. C. V. Beckham here, amidst an uproar of laughter.

He had reference to the fictitious "ring" whom Gov. Edwin P. Morrow, during his campaign last fall, promised "with tears in his eyes and a tremor in his voice," to get free the moment he became settled in the governor's chair.

"He didn't keep his promise to 'ring,'" Senator Beckham said, "and neither did he keep his promise to the voters. He told you he was going to reduce your taxes, but you are paying more now than ever before. He also told you that he was going to reduce the number of officeholders, but has he?"

"Republican deception proved" so successful last year that it is being practiced again, Senator Beckham said. He prophesied, however, that the voters of Kentucky will refuse to be deceived a second time.

Senator Beckham, who had just started on his swing through western Kentucky after five weeks in eastern Kentucky, found the League of Nations is the outstanding issue here. When Senator Beckham touched it today he was given the closest attention.

TEACHERS PAY WILL BE HELD UP

It is very evident teachers of the Madison county schools will be unable to receive checks for their pay next Saturday, the usual time for settlement, according to County Superintendent Edwards, who reports that he will not receive the warrant by the end of the week, owing to a change in the method of paying, or some complication in the matter of a change in the school fund. He has been communicating with State Superintendent Colvin in an effort to prevent delay in the payment of teachers in this county, however, there seems little chance for the evasion of the delay. The situation, Mr. Edwards stated, would be adjusted soon, however, when the checks would be drawn, and he was of the belief this would end the matter of holding up checks for teachers when the regular time arrived for the payment of their salaries.

Accident To Aged Man

While endeavoring to separate some cattle on the farm, Mr. Sam Phelps, 80 years old, residing on South Collins street, this city, stumbled and fell and sustained a fracture of his right arm. The same member was broken several years ago at about the same place and owing to his advanced age, some time will be required for the break to heal.

GREAT CROWD HEARS DEMOCRATS AT BEREA

Remarkable Demonstration In Favor of League Given In Big Republican Section

Fully a thousand voters heard Congressman Webb Venable, of Mississippi, and Mrs. A. M. Harrison, of Lexington, explain the League of Nations at Berea Tuesday night. The meeting there was a most encouraging one in every way, Secretary Marshall Vaughn, of Berea College, presided, and introduced both speakers. Sentiment for the League is strong at Berea. Although an overwhelming republican community, the people think for themselves and they realize that the politicians of the republican party who want the offices are embarked upon a palpable campaign of deception, and the good people of Berea do not intend to be deceived.

The Berea meeting was enthusiastic and heartening in every way and a splendid augury for the vote that may be expected there on November 2nd.

At Richmond In Afternoon

"Democracy is pointing the way to peace," said Congressman Webb Venable, of Mississippi, among his introductory remarks at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the court house, in addressing a large assemblage of Democrats. The audience, although the meeting was during the week and the afternoon at that, was liberally represented by women of the city and county.

True Democracy was the theme upon which the speaker dwelt in a forceful manner eliciting considerable applause at times, especially when he reviewed the work of Governor Cox, of Ohio, spoke of his progress, the struggles with which he had come in contact, his allegiance to the workmen and his record as a constructionist, and levelheadedness generally.

The Southerner dwelt upon the League of Nations, explaining the misrepresentations of the republicans here and there, also attracting the attention of his hearers that other republicans, some of them leading ones, were turning away from the rank and file, advocating the League. This illustration, he asserted, showed the inconsistency of those opposing the League and making this an issue, while others were drawing away and launching their future with the democrats.

"Democracy, the same as the participation in the war," he said, "pointed the way to peace. But republicanism, standing in the presence of millions of dead, babes starving at their mother's breasts, outraged womanhood, blasted hopes, broken hearts, and the blackness of a hopeless future, says 'amen.' So it is and so it shall be. For the 30 pieces of silver of political gain, we sell the hope of the world."

The speaker also dwelt upon the unfairness of the speeches of opponents to the League of Nations whose charges in many instances are wholly untrue and who manifest complete ignorance of the language of the instrument. This, he stated, was very evident, and was but one of the many things resorted to in an effort to misrepresent the situation.

To Govern Prices

Washington, Oct. 13—At the representatives of agriculture interests meeting here to devise means of checking the downward trend of prices of farm products, it is expected President Wilson will give audience today to a committee planned to protest against the currency deflation policy of the Treasury Department.

General bankruptcy and ruin are inevitable unless the present price situation is relieved as it affects the farmer, says the report of the General Committee, adopted by the Agricultural Conference which blamed the Federal Reserve System, charging it with held from assisting the basic industry of the country to maintain level prices at least commensurate with the cost of production.

"Very Happy Day," Says White of Harding

New York, Oct. 13—George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, in a statement today said, "This is a very happy day for those favoring the League of Nations, because Senator Harding is again on the stump losing thousands of votes."

FIRST VISIT IN 35 YEARS

"This doesn't look much like Richmond did 35 years ago," said N. B. Moore, as he stepped from an automobile at Main and Third streets, arriving from his home in Cleveland for a visit with relatives in Richmond and other parts of the state.

Mr. Moore, who is accompanied by his wife, stated there had been many changes in the city.

"Yet Richmond surely looks good," he ejaculated, taking a look at the work being done on the streets. Mr. and Mrs. Moore are spending a few days with Mrs. Mary Dalton, after which they will extend their visit to relatives in other cities.

CORN CROP GREATER; TOBACCO IS LESS

With the growing season almost ended, except for very late tobacco and a small amount of the late corn that is now maturing, Kentucky's crop prospects now indicate the production of approximately 104,000,000 bushels of corn, compared to 82,500,000 bushels last year, and 428,274,000 pound of tobacco, compared to 456,500,000 pounds last year. The United States entire tobacco crop this year is now estimated at 1,478,788,000 pounds, compared to 1,389,458,000 pounds last year, or about 6.4 per cent increase.

These estimates were issued jointly today at Louisville and Frankfort by H. E. Bryant, Kentucky agent of the United States Bureau of Crop Estimates, and State Commissioner of Agriculture W. C. Hanna. The following estimates of other crops produced in Kentucky and the United States this season, with comparison with the 1919 crops, were issued at the same time: Oats (Kentucky) 10,129,000 bushels, compared to 9,900,000 bushels last year; barley 112,000 bushels, compared to 100,000 bushels last year; potatoes, 6,657,000 bushels compared to 5,040,000; sweet potatoes 1,652,000 bushels, compared to 1,680,000; sorghum molasses, 3,236,000 gallons, compared to 2,542,000 gallons last year; clover seed, 52,800 bushels compared to 38,000; apples, 5,671,000 bushels, compared to 4,480,000; pears 306,000 bushels, compared to 128,000 bushels last year.

Condition of minor crops is as follows: Buckwheat, 89 per cent; pasture, 96; field peas, 90; cabbage, average yield per acre 2.5 tons; onions per cent of normal yield 95; average yield per acre, 120 bushels; grapes, condition, 83 per cent; pears, 75; broom corn, per cent of normal yield 96; sorghum for syrup, condition, 97 per cent, average yield per acre, 102.8 gallons.

Crop conditions in Madison county are given as follows: Corn, 105; potatoes, 98; tobacco, 86; pasture, 106; sorghum, 103.

Worshippers at Episcopal churches are to hear the reading of a letter which 250 Episcopal bishops from all parts of the world have sent to every Episcopal congregation on the globe, urging the organized support of all members for the League of Nations. Over production was declared to be the chief obstacle in the path of the burley growers and a plea for a powerful organization of growers for protective purposes was voiced in an address by John W. Newman, Versailles, temporary head of the burley association.

PAINT LICK 11 IS VANQUISHED AGAIN

With Weight Against Them N. S. Players Romp Home With Victory In Great Style

The return game of football with Paint Lick was played Tuesday afternoon. Although outweighed on an average of 15 pounds to the man, the Normal boys showed that they were out to win from the start.

Captain Joe White at fullback showed nerve and stamina throughout the game. He tore through the opposition steadily for good gains. His 20-yard run in the first quarter registered the Normal's first touchdown.

Covington was never hard pressed during the whole conflict. The way he handled forward passes was a feature. By this route Eastern's other two touchdowns were made. Bill Crutcher kicked goal after each touchdown. The whole team played true to form. Every man deserves special credit.

The line up was: Goodman, le; Adams, lt; Hoskins, rg; Carr, c; Rice, rg; Spillman, rt; Covington, re; Blanton, q; B. Crutcher, rh; K. Crutcher, lh; White (captain) fb. Officials—Referee, Carter (Virginia); umpire, Smith (Kentucky); head linesman, Keith (Oxford). Substitutes—Arnold for Adams; Evans for Spillman; Carr for Hoskins; Saylor for Rice.

The Model High school will play the Winchester High school here on Friday afternoon.

MURDER RESULT OF BIG DRINKING BOUT

Manchester, Ky., Oct. 13.—A warrant was issued here for James Stivers, charging him with the murder of James Farmer, of this place. The killing took place at the home of the latter Sunday morning at 1 o'clock.

Testimony given before a jury of quest is to the effect that about fifteen men, being about equally divided between white and colored, gathered at Farmer's house Saturday night and spent the night, up to the time Farmer was killed, in drinking and gambling.

Some difficulty developed in a room adjoining the room where Farmer was. Farmer went into the room, apparently to settle the dispute and to quiet the men. Soon after he entered he light was shot out and immediately the shot was fired which is believed to have taken his life. He was shot in the neck with a Colt's .45, the shot breaking his neckbone. He died instantly. After the shooting the men left the room.

Both Farmer and Stivers had killed a man. Farmer had served a sentence in the penitentiary. He is survived by three sons, a brother and a sister. His wife died several years ago. His brother, a lawyer, lives in Hamilton, Ohio.

The following men, all of whom were at Farmer's house the night of the difficulty, were placed under bond by Judge House to answer for gaming: Garrard Ford, Saint Word, Steve Lytle, Earl Howard, Ted Marcum, Theo Will White, Floyd Gilbert, McKinley Potter, Robert Hacker, B. P. Lee and Oscar Britton.

Harding A "Bush Leaguer"

Chicago, Oct. 13—"The question of whether members of the League of Nations would accept a new 'association of nations' was put to Senator Warren G. Harding today in a statement issued here by Congressman Frank E. Doremus, chairman of the Mid-Western headquarters of the democratic committee.

"Senator Harding is again talking vaguely about an association of nations, ignoring the fact that the League of Nations is already set up and includes 41 countries," says the statement.

"Does Senator Harding think these 41 nations will disband and join his association?"

"The only inference that can be drawn from the Senator's remarks is that he is a bush leaguer, playing with Mexico, Turkey and Bolshevik Russia."

Small Town Stuff

One marked difference between big city merchants and small town merchants is this: When business is dull the big city merchants advertise more vigorously than ever in order to increase trade; when business is dull in a small town the merchant cuts down his advertisements. RED HOUSE MEET WAS ROUSING ONE

Earnest and Impressive Appeal Made By Prof. Payne and Mrs. C. E. Helton

"The religious phase and Christian influence of the League of Nations," was the theme upon which Prof. J. Howard Payne, of Richmond, spoke Tuesday night at the Methodist church at Red House, where there was a double speaking on behalf of Democracy. Mrs. C. S. Helton, also of this city, was the other speaker, and the edifice, which was filled with a liberal gathering of women of that community, is said to have been the scene of much enthusiasm and the recording of two very forceful speeches.

Prof. Payne described the aim and purpose of the League of Nations, lucidly explaining the falsehoods being spread by the Republicans regarding the ruling that the United States would have to take up the burdens of the world and participate in wars between foreign nations, etc. It is said his oration, which was eloquent as well as forceful, was most pleasing and there was much comment regarding the appropriateness of his talk.

Mrs. Helton sought to interest the women of the community regarding their duty as to voting, and created the impression upon many who were indifferent, it is said, that they should cast their ballots. There were special features in the way of an instructive talk to the women by Mrs. Helton, which are believed to have been very favorable of impression.

The attendance marked the gathering from Boonesboro, the new precinct, since the territory has been divided. However, there was that old-time harmony which has characterized that part of the county for years. The audience also included many from Union City, while Amater and White Hall were well represented.

Mrs. C. W. Cobb, the ever-busy chairman of the woman's organization of the county, was present, and much of the success of the meeting was due to her excellent management and tireless work. There was unusual enthusiasm throughout the meeting. There were no orations of the fire-eating variety, they being earnest and instructive and impressive in their presentation.

ABSENCE OF WITNESSES HOLDS UP DAMAGE SUIT

Owing to the absence of a number of witnesses in the case of J. B. Richardson vs. Berea College, but a portion of the evidence in the case was presented Tuesday and all of Wednesday, it is believed, will be required in hearing the testimony and the arguments of counsel. That the case will be hotly contested there is no question. Mr. Richardson, who is the owner of a beautiful home in Berea, asserts in the complaint that the Berea representatives against his will built a garage adjacent to his home and maintain a repair shop therein. He asks for damages in the sum of $10,000. Owing to the delay in closing this case, the regular calendar booked for Wednesday will be in evidence on Thursday.

PARENTS TO LEARN TO READ AND WRITE

When the new school at Big Hill is completed and opened for use, there will be some of the oldest students of the state in attendance, since the teachers employed there have promised residents who have been assisting with the new structure that they would teach at night and hold regular sessions for parents of many of the students who would be in attendance during the day.

This movement has been planned, first, because there are a number of residents of the neighborhood who are desirous of learning to read and write. These same residents, many of whom represent the wealthiest class, have been instrumental in the new school being provided with many essentials. Co-operation and benefits derived therefrom are being demonstrated in that section of the county. The night schools will be one of the results, and the ability to read and write upon the part of many of those even past middle age will be another. The interest in the schools has never been as great as at the present time. Instructors from Berea and other institutions have taken a decided interest in the parent.

There will be demonstrations on manual training, as well as domestic science, which promise to add greatly to the importance of the future of the schools. There will be special days set for these, and parents as well as students will be invited to observe the work. This work will be partly done by the students, under the supervision of the management, and parents will be taught from the lessons learned by their children. This is said to be the first instance wherein these features have been taught to both student and parent simultaneously.

FIRE TRUCK LIGHTS GO OUT DURING RUN TO FIRE

Tuesday night, when the alarm of fire was sounded in the east end, there was a run out of the ordinary, since part of the trip was made by the truck with all lights turned off. It was while the truck was speeding eastward on Irvine street at a reported speed of 40 miles per hour when the lights suddenly went out. Chief of the Fire Department Daugherty was on the seat beside Driver Thomas Hardin and both men realized the position. However, the driver held the steering truck to the middle of the street, and the button governing the putting on and shutting off of the lights was found, and they were again soon in evidence. However, it was not known what caused the lights to go out. The firemen aboard the truck admitted they were relieved when the light was again flashed on the roadway ahead of them.

Mrs. McKee, who had been called to her father's bedside because of his serious condition, was with him when the end came. The Lexington Herald says: "One of Lexington's oldest and most respected citizens, J. B. McKenna, of 617 West Short street, died Monday night at 8:30 o'clock."

"He was born in Derry county, Ireland, coming to America and to Lexington in 1859, where he has continuously resided, being in business at the corner of Main and Jefferson streets until about one year ago, when failing health compelled him to retire. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary McKenna; two daughters, Mrs. R. J. McKee, of Richmond, and Mrs. W. M. Storch, of Louisville, and one son, J. B. McKenna, of the Peerless Laundry firm."

Storch, of Louisville, and one son, J. B. McKenna, of the Peerless Laundry firm.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Lieut. Carl Wanderer, being tried in Chicago for the murder of his wife appears to be nervous for the first time since the tragedy.

Chicago tenant has sued landlord for $10,000 damages because he failed to heat the building in which she lived.

Whisky is being smuggled into New York labeled as fish, it is said. Now the police are looking after everything thus labeled. Dry agents in Chicago killed a whisky runner and captured more than $500,000 worth of whisky, according to reports.

A great amount of New York capital is being invested in Kentucky oil fields. Many speculators are coming into the field each week.

D. A. R. Meeting

A very enjoyable meeting of the Boonesboro Chapter, D. A. R., was held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. G. Bosley, she and Miss Sarah Bright being the hostesses for October.

The meeting was opened by the reciting of the Lord's Prayer in unison after the reading of the minutes of the last meeting. The business of the afternoon was immediately taken up, and the regent, Mrs. Caperton, appointed the following committees:

Program Committee—Mrs. E. T. Burnam, chairman, Mrs. Allen Zaring, Mrs. James Burnam.

Nominating Committee—Miss Mattie Tribble, chairman; Mrs. Jennings Greenleaf, Miss Laura Bright.

Delegates to the State Meeting at Louisville, October 27—Mrs. James W. Caperton, Mrs. J. G. Bosley; alternates, Mrs. Lewis Neale, Mrs. Mary B. Miller, Mrs. Allen Zaring, Mrs. M. C. Kellogg, Miss Tribble, Miss Kennedy, Mrs. E. T. Burnam, Miss Bessie Miller and Mrs. Shelton Sautley. Miss Sara Shackelford was unanimously elected a member of the chapter.

This month marks the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims. To commemorate this historic event the whole of the literary program was given over to this subject. Mrs. Mary B. Thompson gave an interesting magazine review on "The Landing of the Pilgrims." Mrs. James Neale read a poem entitled, "The Pilgrim Mother." Miss Mattie Tribble followed with the main talk of the afternoon, "The Pilgrims." (This she gave in a most interesting manner, demonstrating the truth of the statement of a well known writer that they were indeed the most successful adventurers in all history. It is a strange coincidence that there are more of their direct descendants in the Mississippi valley and on the Pacific coast than in New England, proving, if nothing else, they inherited from their forebears that desire to go west and grow up with the country.)

More than one member of the Boonesboro Chapter boasts of the blood of the Pilgrim fathers in their veins. They were a splendid company of people, splendid in the sense of strength, strong physically, mentally

Kept Growing Worse Until He Almost Gave Up—Tanlac Restored His Health

"I thought I would have to quit my job but two bottles of Tanlac have put me back in as fine health as I could want to be in," said John J. Block, of 1105 Duncansville, Louisville, Ky.

"My troubles started about a year ago and I went down 'hill' until it was all I could do to hold out at work till night. My stomach was in an awful shape and I never wanted to eat anything hardly for everything disagreed with me. I had the rheumatism from the small of my back to my knees and I couldn't sleep well. I felt tired from morning to night and many a time thought I was going to give up."

"Finally I decided to try Tanlac and while I have been taking it only about three weeks it has built me up more than I ever thought any medicine could. My appetite can't be beat, I relish everything I eat and never suffer after eating. I don't feel a trace of rheumatism, I sleep sound every night and get up of mornings feeling fine. I'm as good a man physically as I ever was and never miss a day from work."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son; in College Hill by Ginter Brothers; in Berea by Welch Department Stores. It and morally, and we scarce believe there is one of us who would not be proud to claim that "our ancestors came over in the Mayflower," despite the jealous wit who said, "Yes, the immigration laws were not so strict in those days."

R. Coyle; "The Child in Religion," Mrs. Robert Cook; Mrs. F. R. Baker, the president, and Mrs. Charles Buzzlett, secretary, presided over the business session. There were about twenty-two members present and a number of outside guests.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. BREAMER AND GORDON

COMING TO RICHMOND

Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon return to the local theaters Saturday in a screen adaption of Eleanor H. Porter's story, "Dawn." Miss Porter is perhaps best known for her charming "Pollyanna" story, which preached the divine doctrine of being thankful for what you have. "Dawn" also carries a message—a message of strength and beauty. The story revolves principally around a young artist whose career is suddenly blighted when blindness overcomes him. Without his eyes he saw a life of uselessness stretching out before him—a life in which he would always be dependant upon others. He also labored under the mistaken idea that the girl he loved found his blindness repulsive.

ANOTHER VETERAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Word was received here late yesterday of the death at Excelsior Springs, Mo., of Mr. Robert Caldwell. Mr. Caldwell was the son of Rev. James Caldwell and Amanda White Caldwell, and was born in Madison county, where he spent a large part of his life.

He was the oldest of eight children, only two of whom survive: Mrs. Lizzie C. Handly and Mrs. Mary C. Armstrong, of Nashville, Tenn.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Mrs. Mary Cobb Caldwell, formerly of this county, one son, Rev. Jesse Cobb Caldwell, dean of Drake University.

He served in the army of the Confederacy under General John H. Morgan, and was in the famous raid through Indiana and Ohio. He was captured at Camp Douglas and held in prison there for a year and a half.

A host of relatives and friends here mourn his loss. He will be buried at Elsinor Springs Wednesday.

KENTUCKY SWINE AT SOUTHERN FAIRS

Wm. B. Turley, of Richmond, and his brother-in-law, Robert T. Bruce of Stanford, departed Wednesday for Atlanta, Ga., where they will be in attendance at the fair and furnish one of the best exhibits of live stock to be seen. The gentlemen from Kentucky specialize in Red Berkshire hogs and they will have a big list to show this year. This is their annual pilgrimage to the South where they have been very successful heretofore having brought many of the blue ribbons home. They will go from Atlanta to Macon, and perhaps other big fairs in the South, and exhibitions of the stock will be made at each place. They have been expected for some time, their exhibition being the leading feature of many of the Southern fairs.

REFORM WAVE STRIKES CITY—SLATE IS CLEAN

It is probable, and very certain, if there is a continuance of absence of cases, that there will be a meeting Friday night of City Judge G. Murray Smith, City Attorney J. P. Chevalier and others who will report, knowing that there is not a single case on the slate, there having been no arrests, and the talk will doubtless turn to the newly paved streets. This is the first time in months that there has been a clean slate there on Friday night, some of the sessions being started early and continuing late, owing to the large number of cases. The past week has been an exception, some attributing it to the daily illustration of the fact that it does not pay to get into trouble, the Madison circuit court and grand jury being in session. City Judge Smith stated Wednesday that the situation was unusual; however, he believed he would be able to get along without any special work Friday night.

FIREMAN NELSON IS BUSY

Mose Nelson, city fireman, is enjoying his vacation. He is spending most of his time repairing and remodeling his home on East Main street.
